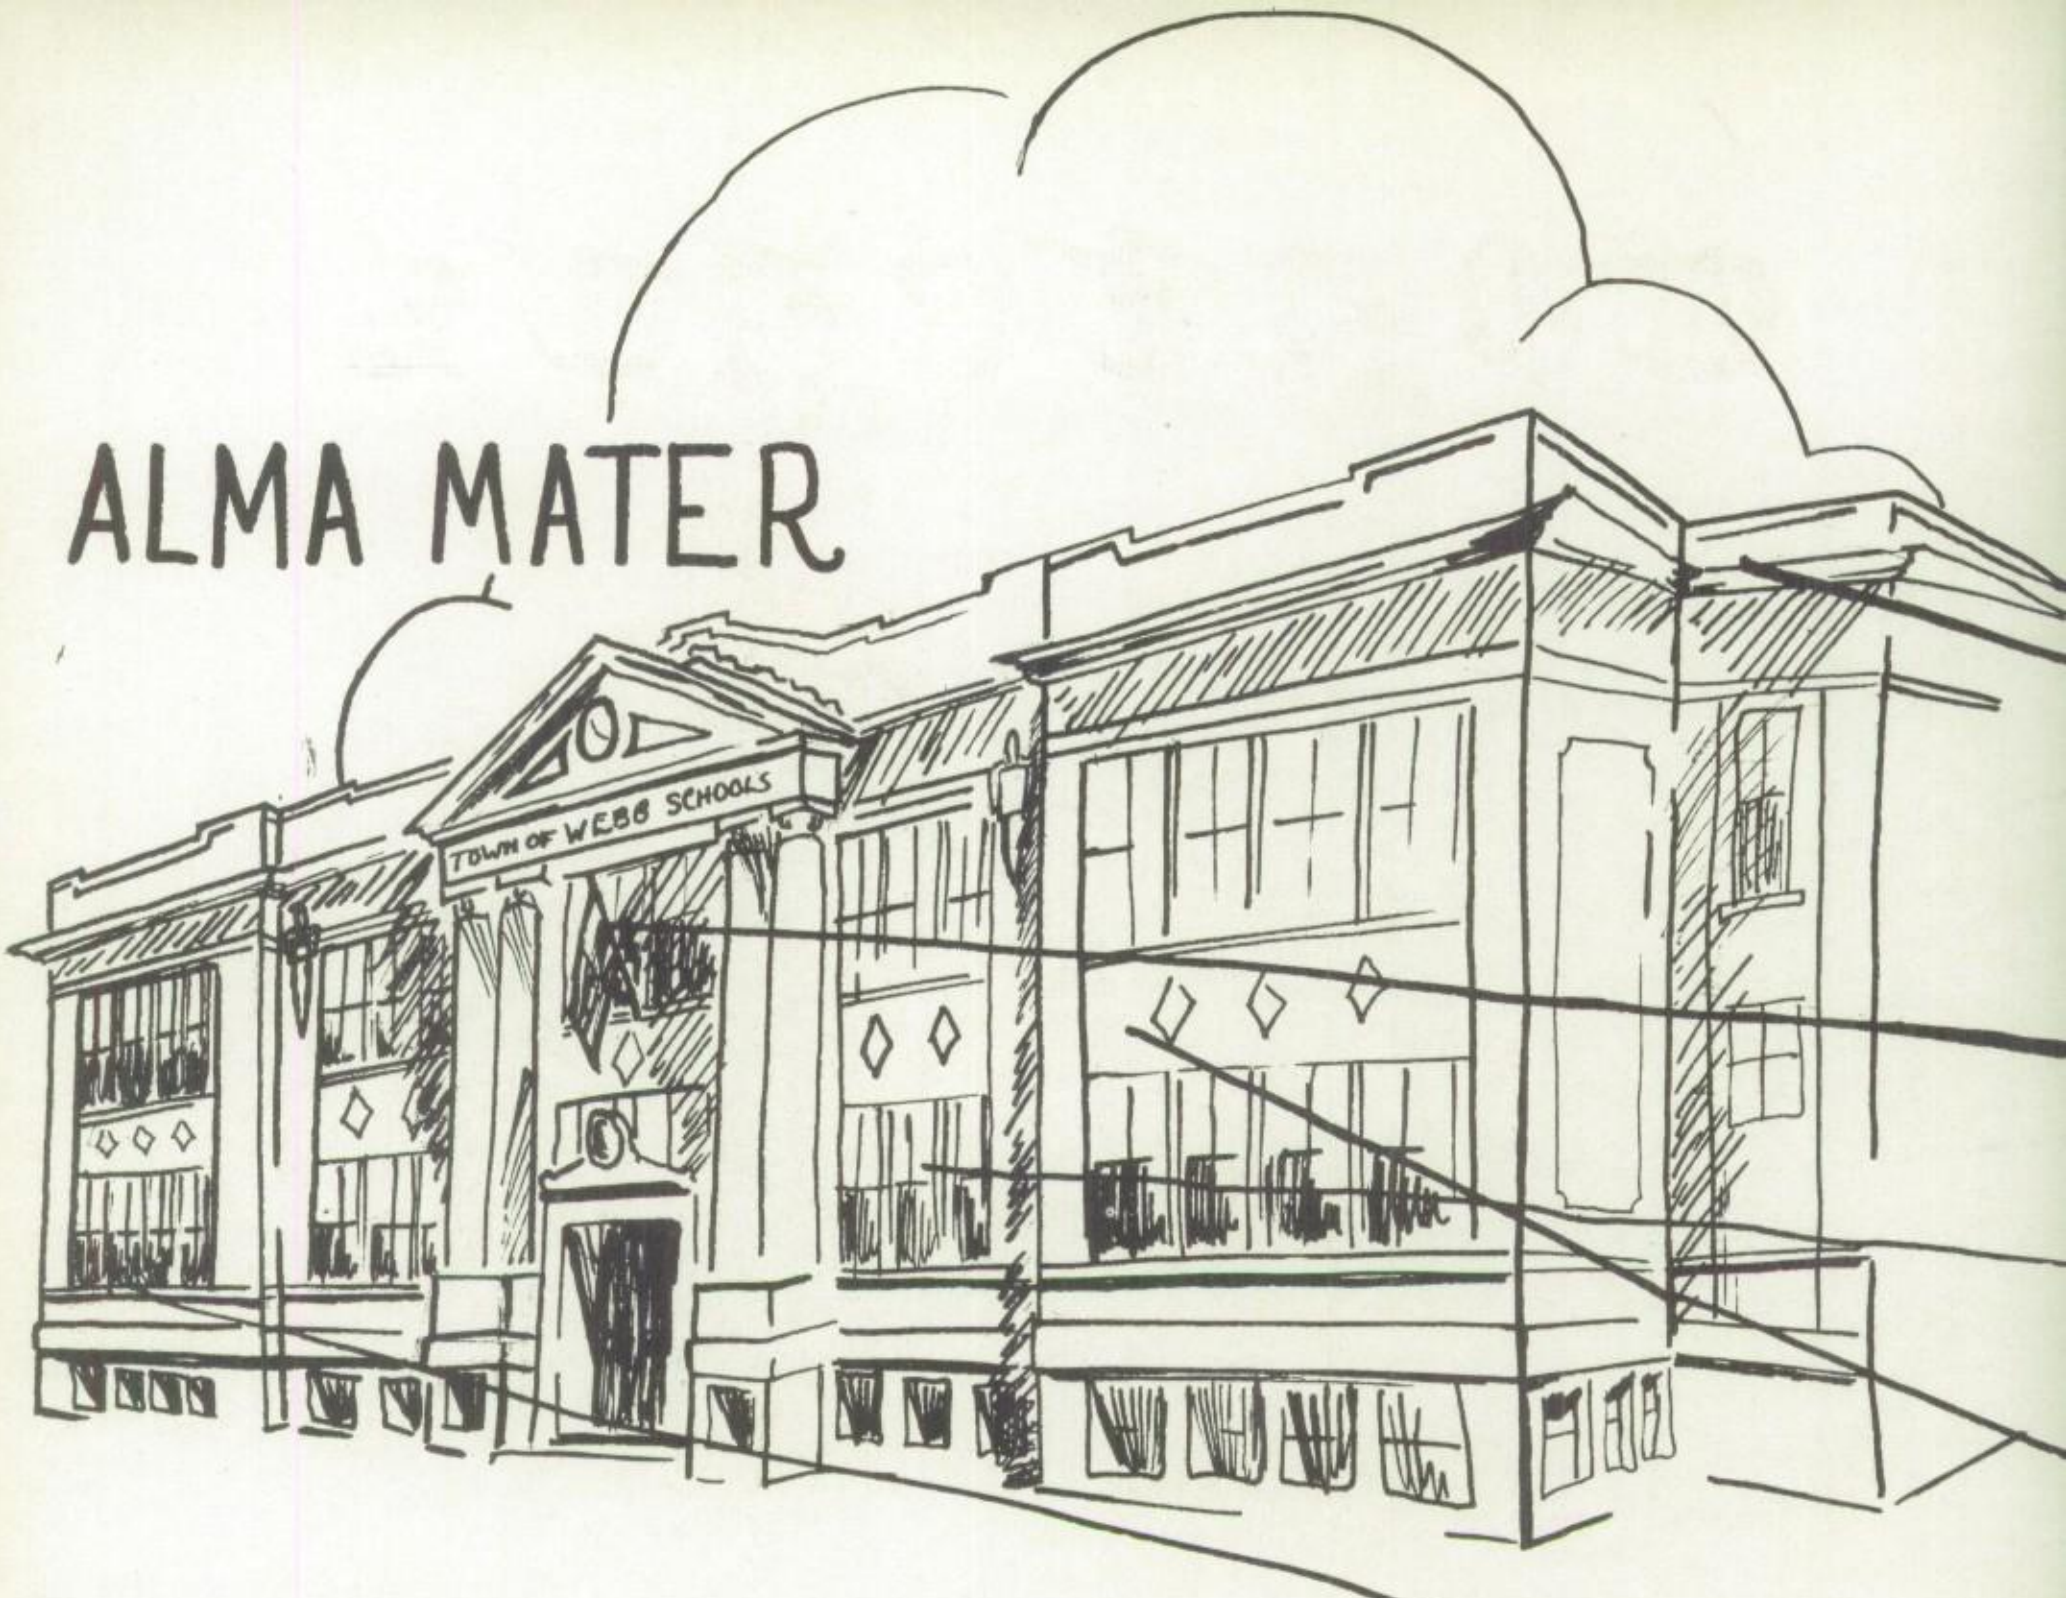
ALMA MATER



Circled round by kingly mountains,
Breathed upon by healing balm.
Mirrored in the glowing sunshine,
Blessed by great soul-stirring calm,
Stands our own dear ALMA MATER,
Crowned with honor, crowned with love,
Crowned by Town of Webb's sons loyal
True to her all else above.

When the twilight shadows gather,
And the day is well nigh done.
Still the balm of pine trees hover
To win back our laurels won;
Then our fancies homeward turning,
Make our longing memories fly,
To the life in dear old High School,
And the friends of days gone by.

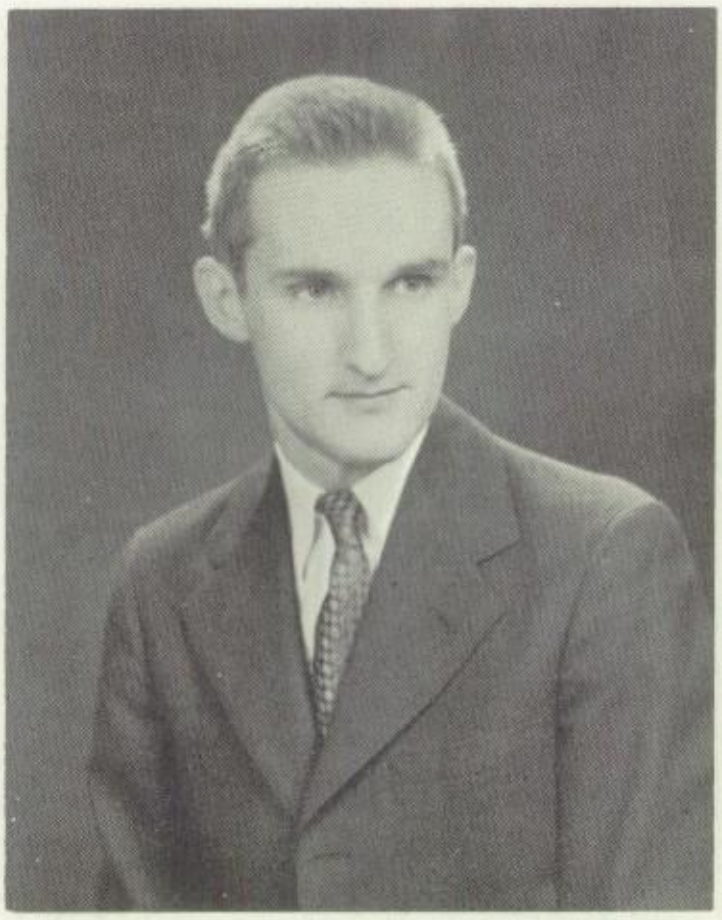
DEDICATION



The Class of 1955 dedicates this yearbook to Mr. Edgar S. Read, who as a teacher, a friend and an able leader has helped in the attainment of the highest goals possible while in high school. It is hoped that this book will stand as a living testament of our eternal thanks because words are inadequate to express deep feelings.

HISTORY

Four short years ago, we were green, definitely scared, and even on the shy side. We were Freshmen ! In what we considered to have been eternity and which we now consider no more than a timy moment we became Seniors. No longer unsure, we can look back with pride in our achievements. To the up 'n coming Seniors is left the task of maintaining our traditions.

Twenty-five of us entered Mr. Read's homeroom that September '51. Our group immediately set to work on money making schemes for a future Senior trip. This was the year we initiated our annual Ham raffle at Eastertime. Freshmen we were and a whole week of Senior razzing greeted us. We did, however, live through it and in the process gained lots of funny experiences. At the end of our hectic week we were officially in high school.

Sophomores ! How fast the time flew, for suddenly we were sitting in Mr. Smith's homeroom. With our number the same, we set out on that old familiar quest --money ! Bake sales and raffles really were what added to our funds that year. The Lewneida League gained Old Forge in membership and we readily and heartily plunged into the activities the League supports and ended up with two semesters of memorable events

Then came our Junior year with Mrs. Watson. Now we were upper classmen and did we ever know it. We made sure everyone else did too ! We were off to a flying start when the Halloween dance everyone said would flop, provided us with dividends unheard of for dances held in the past few years in the Town of Webb High. Courage and pride pushed us into the impromptu amateur show and as usual our luck held netting high and unexpected profits. Our big project was the Junior Prom which combined with the Lewneida League Ball. A huge turn-our caused this to become a rousing success. As a grand finale to the year will any of us be able to blot out the memory of the class of '55 who received at that time the name "Holy Terrors of TWHS?"

This, our last year, under Miss Collister is bringing to a close an era for us. We now number twenty-one having lost along the way four of our classmates — Therese LaMonica, James Farmer, Wayne VanKirk, and Joseph Nelson. Our history has been long and a great deal not covered here will stay in our hearts. High school has been good to us, and we in turn hope all of you will remember the Class of '55 who takes its leave believing that the future holds all the promise only briefly seen in youth.

POEM

We never thought the day would come,
When we'd be here before you,
But since we finally made the grade,
This class poem shows we're through!

The Mr. Peepers of our class,
Or as we all call this boy,
Is better known to most of you,
As the incomporable Jimmy Joy.

Fair-haired Skip, the devil's own work,
Is usually seen with a grin,
He's always talking out of turn,
But we've put up with him.

The money-mad kid from the Strand,
Is the Treasurer of our class,
Teresa filled this position quite well,
At least she was good for laughs.

One trouble-maker we all know,
Is Tommy, "that's for sure," Deis.
He's learning now to be a cook,
With apples, mince, and spice.

The twin that's often seen with a smile,
Is the one whose name is Ann,
But she's often found deep in thought,
And hard to understand.

The one from Fourth Lake--that's Bill,
Lets boats keep him in whirls,
But they don't keep him busy enough,
To keep his mind off girls.

And now we may as well include,
Bill's closest friend--Bob Liddle,
For Bob you know, with all his girls,
Has never played second fiddle.

We'll enlighten you now on Janet,
She comes from Eagle Bay.
For her it's an effort to come to school,
So she misses the bus every day.

For every Romeo there's a Juliet,
To believe this it's not hard,
For Jackie sure has proved the point,
His Juliet?? Why it's Barb!

Dick is a sailor boy,
Or at least he soon will be,
And when you go to talk to him,
His mind is out at sea.

Our mechanically-minded Simpson,
Thinks G.M. makes quite a car,
But why do you drive your Plymouth, Tom?
Won't a Chevy get you as far?

Next comes Mick--or Olga McCane,
Who accompanies the chorus in song,
She makes friends very easily,
So will get far before too long.

Another one we've all heard of,
Is from Inlet, just like me,
And when there's any trouble around,
Look for Mervin--You'll see.

She's tall and blonde, and has blue eyes,
Her name you know is Sande.
She's someone to appreciate,
Her friendship comes in handy.

Donnie Simpson is not very tall,
To that fact we all agree,
But that boy sure does get around,
You betcha--Yessiree!!

We've elected this girl as secretary,
For her marks are far from low,
As yearbook-Editor-In-Chief,
Connie's kept us on the go.

Our lone-star boarder from Otter Lake,
Holds the honor of being quiet,
So if you ever hear Tommy yell,
It probably will be quite a riot.

We have another sailor,
Who's a little more on ground,
In character, in mind and act,
Keith seems to be more sound.

Connie DeLong is tall by name,
And sure lives up to her mark,
However, she's surely going insane,
On the oboe, she plays like a lark.

We have one boy who gets around,
To really live up to his name,
You must know it's Ronnie we mean,
For who else has acquired such fame?

To write the rest, I had to think,
So awful, awful, much,
That when it came around to me,
I was sure in dutch.

And since I have lost all control,
Of all my thinking arts,
I guess I'll say goodbye for the class,
From the bottom of our hearts.

We, the Class of 1955, feel that our yearbook would not be complete without openly expressing our gratitude to you, Mr. Fryer, for all that you've done for us. We have you to thank for teaching us to appreciate music and for the good times we've shared for so many years in band. The trips were not dull and we all gained something of value from each one. The new smoothly functioning dance band is omly one example of what you've done, not solely for us but for the entire school. We will always look upon you not only as an inspiring teacher but as a personal friend in whom we wouldn't ever fail to confide. Though you have left our school you have given a part of yourself to our hearts which will remain with us through the years.

PROPHECY

Statistics compiled and edited by your Nutsy Noodle Newsman on the type of people who come to Professor Thomas Simpson's School of Concentration.

The first student whom we interviewed was the wealthy and distinguished Thomas Rowe, Esquire who made his fortune by keeping his ears open and his mouth shut. He is one of the best pupils at the school. He concentrates with the greatest of ease for he just never has any desire to talk.

The modern Elizabeth Barret Browning, the reknowed poetess Patricia Tiffany famous for her poem "Romantic Thoughts on Love"--or--"Lovely Thoughts on Romance",is another Simpson student.

Donald Simpson, brother to the owner, also patronizes this school. Donald is a lion-tamer employed by the "Biggest Show on Earth." This man is famous for his fearlessness.

Sandra Burke, a correspondence-course pupil, leads a very glamorous life as a female spy. It is rumored that she is now circulating in Avon-Piccadilly-Near-Stratford-On-Hastings-On-Hudson.

Robert Gebhardt, sports editor of the "Molin Bugle", is a yearly visitor at the school. He only visits the school annually because it takes almost that long to get from Molin to civilization.

Thomas Deis is another who drops in at the school for a short course now and then. Monsieur Deis is the famous chef at the Cafe de la Paix in Paris. He is an even bigger hit with the mademoiselles than his cooking.

Another pupil interviewed is the prima ballerina Teresa Bartelotte. She is the one who proved that one does not have to start young to achieve greatness.

Two notorious sailors who have made a profitable career of pirating and who drop in every once in a while at the school when they are not wanted by the international police force are Keith Barker and Dick Wormwood.

One infamous student is Senator James Joy the champion filibusterer of the Senate. When he is filibustering he doesn't even read from books he just lets himself go and talks!

Olga McCane who plays the jazziest organ this side of the Rockies takes a concentration course every January. After interviewing her we decided to sign up at the school ourselves!

Jack Ball is practically a permanent institution at the school ever since he inherited the principalship of Town of Webb Schools from his father-in-law.

The next two students whom we interviewed, Connie and Ann Westfall have made such a fortune as partners in the Interplanetary Hotels chain that they tour the country playing sax duets just for fun.

Duke Hollister, the modern Eddie Fisher, who is known as "Dizzy Duke the Crooner" is a semi-annual student. What a torpy voice!

The current playboy of New York, Bob Liddle, designs T.V. antennas with every possible convenience from built in stork nests to burglar alarms. He and Bill Burnap always take their course at the same time; a hangover from high-school days, we guess. Bill is employed in the American branch of a French perfume company as a perfume namer.

The wealthy Janet Hartnett a prominent member of the social set, stops in at the school between yacht cruises.

Another patron of the school is Prof. Mervin Murdock, aeronautics expert, who claims that he makes use of the art of concentration when he is flying around the Adirondacks in his balloon suspended chair.

We have come to the conclusion, from these statistics, that Simpson's School has a very select clientele and therefore must present excellent courses. If you should ever decide to take a course in concentration be sure to consider Simpson's School and if you ever long for the good old kids and the good times of your youth this is the place to go.
